Small Talk

►► WE'VE WON A PRIZE, and we're pleased as Punch. (Don't ask us why Punch was pleased and how much.) The prize came in a citation from the American Alumni Council in its annual competition for alumni magazines throughout the country and Canada. The Brown Alumni Monthly received its Certificate of Merit "for its constantly diverting and amusing column Small Talk." Now we're self-conscious and will probably prove as flat as flapjacks.

William Bentinck-Smith of Harvard, reporting for the judges in the competition, also said: "Perhaps the best single news story of the year was the Brown Alumni Monthly's account of fraternity troubles" (our "Black Friday" story in the April issue). Again, too, we had an honorable mention for the quality of our alumni news (club and association activities and class personals). Our department, Brunonians Far and Near has had such commendation on several occasions in the past, beginning in the period when Alfred H. Gurney '07 so ably edited it. For this bit of praise from the AAC we share satisfaction with all the Brown Club correspondents and Class Secretaries who have so faithfully contributed.

► The Athletic Office couldn't do anything but send a good ticket to the Pawtucket man who wrote in this vein for a Holy Cross game seat: "I suppose that since I am not an alumnus of Brown University that I will be put in a what-the-heck category of seat-placing. However, I trust that since I have applied rather early for a ticket, you will do the handsome thing by me between the forties about three quarters up. If you do right by me I personally promise to lose an ulcer rooting for Brown."

► We suspect the Flanders family has established something of an intercollegiate record, for Cyrus G. Flanders '18, indefatigable Secretary of the Hartford Brown Club, has four sons who are undergraduates at Brown in the same academic year. The newest is John '53, and Sam and Urban are 1950, while Glenn (Cyrus G., Jr.) was originally 1949 but now 1951 after two years of the military. A brother was Kenneth, 1917, a nephew was Fred, 1949, a daughter Nancy was at Pembroke (1951) until she was married.

The comment, not original with us, is appropriate just the same: "In Poppy's field the Flanders grow."

► A lively part of the daily routine of the Alumni Office of every American college is the pursuit of those who have moved without remembering to notify the college. We of the Alumni Monthly are particularly grateful to the Alumni Office staff for keeping us posted as to the whereabouts of our Brown men so that the magazine may reach them all. We had a particular interest, then, in reading the report of Radcliffe's alumnae secretary who told of her efforts in tracing alumnae temporarily lost. And we suspected her problem, without having an exact parallel, when we read that one Radcliffe alumna "who, so the police say, disappeared over the Canadian border with a shot-gun, and to date has not returned."

► The technique of welcome to the incoming Freshman Class improves each year at Brown, and the BCA does a fine job. Some of the parents were so interested, in fact, that they lined up on the opposite side of Waterman Street watching the welcoming committee greet the newcomers outside Faunce House. One alumnus of another Ivy League college went so far as to comment on the reception his Freshman son was receiving at Brown. "In my day," he said, "it was a far cry from this. The only welcome we had was from the Sophomores, who hazed us and did all they could to discourage us from entering school."

► Gordon Kester of the Providence Journal, remarking the vast simplification of the registration process at Brown nowadays and identifying "a successful Freshman Week" this fall, told of a worrisome hazard:

"A Freshman who had just signed his name on something for the 12th time that day turned away from the desk he had been writing on and walked unflinchingly into the wall. An observer might have dismissed that as an accident—over exposure to an eye-chart earlier in the week, perhaps—if a short time later another bemused Freshman had not turned from the same desk and smacked against the wall at almost the same spot. The University took action then to avert what might have resulted in a crop of flat-nosed Freshmen. Reported William A. Jewett, University Recorder and the man responsible for the smoothly efficient registration of students: We moved the desk two feet to the right so that Freshmen turning away from it would be aimed at the door.

An upperclassman on hand for Freshman Week had a malicious sense of humor. Straight-faced, he pushed an official-looking paper toward a Freshman and had him sign his name 15 times. Then he told the new boy to open his mouth and say, "Ah." Well, wouldn't you do it, too, if you were a Freshman?

► Many of the anniversary Classes have already made a start on reunion plans for next June, and a popular device in the preliminary stages is to send out a questionnaire. One which is certain to produce amusement as well as information is H. D. Chafee's for the Class of 1940, which is even so obliging as to provide excuses for anyone who won't come. Samples: "Have other system for escaping wife. Can't escape wife... (Won't attend campus dance because) don't dance; allergic to grass; too old... (Won't attend All-Alumni Dinner because) can't decide between fish and meat... It's not the cost—it's the morning after... Will attend in 1960." But 1950 will offer good arguments for being on hand, too.

► The intra-squad scrimmage, which was staged this fall for the press and Brown Club members, was labelled the "ideal football game" in many respects. First, Brown couldn't lose. Second, the referee and other officials were all loyal alumni as well as competent workers. And finally, everyone who attended could sit on the 50-yard line.

In the latter connection, Athletic Director Paul Mackesey had a chuckle because, with the whole stadium to sit in, the spec-

Published monthly (except in August and September) by Brown University, Providence 12, R. I. Admitted to the second class of mail matter under the Act of August 24, 1912, at the Providence Post Office.

► ► A Fresh Perspective on the Quadrangle

► ► LOOK AT THAT GREAT PIT if you haven't already done so and can. Then you will be your own best reporter on the scope of the Quadrangle at Brown. Then this story, tame and inadequate, will be unnecessary and you the wiser and prouder.

If you've walked along Thayer Street in Providence between George and Benevolent lately, you won't be impressed by anything we write here. You'll remember instead that deep, vast excavation, that large and busy scene where the Refectory will rise in the corner of the Quadrangle. (You have to make yourself remember, perhaps, that it is only a corner, for even that seems tremendous projected against the dimensions of the present Brown.)

If you have looked, you know—probably for the first time, too—just what the scale of Brown's planning for the future has been.

As for us, passing it during the summer weeks, we were awed and a little unbelieving. We'd lived, so many of us, for so long now with this Quadrangle notion that we'd lost our perspective on it. We'd let little gadgetty things, like the moat, distract us out of all proportion to their unimportance; time had obscured or dulled the familiar but fundamental idea. More than old buildings have been cleared away to give the vista. Now we appreciate proudly how magnificent this is that Brown has in the making.

Maybe you haven't yet looked across that deep, wide corner. There are some yardsticks in "The Report on Plans and Progress" distributed this fall by the Housing and Development Fund; they help your mind make some measurements. There are maps and pictures of what has been and what is to be, a photo from the air, and the architect's envisioning. They show graphically how the new Quadrangle looms over the area, more than half as extensive as the whole older campus between Waterman and George between the top of College Hill and Thayer Street, which was so many years in the consolidating and building. The sketches also suggest the size and quality of the nine new dormitory buildings which will join the Refectory on the Quadrangle site. They make you realize the impatience of those who wanted to get on with this during the period of negotiation, land-acquisition, devising, and first financing. Now, you, too, become eager.

AS THE 186th ACADEMIC YEAR began at Brown: President Wriston with U. S. Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup. The latter was Convention speaker and recipient of an honorary LL.D.

► BUT, AS WE SAY, the best eye-opener on this whole business remains a quick look at where the work has started. If you haven't seen it, come back to the Hill, stroll around the two blocks which are being united into one, and see for yourself. See where houses and stores have been moved or razed. See the cement going into the foundations, with all the detailed bustle of a sprawling construction job. And then let your imagination project this one corner against the rest of the section. You begin to see why the dollars involved are so many: you begin to sense in new dimensions what is yours for the giving.

It is no small community which will house 750 college men. It is no small lunchroom which will cater to 1640 of them in its main hall, let alone 17 perimeter dining rooms for fraternity men and a basement cafeteria for 200. As you think of this on the spot, any comparison to a medieval castle seems sadly inept.

First public descriptions of the Quadrangle from definitive plans were given late in August by President Wriston and the architect, Thomas Mott Shaw of Perry, Shaw & Hepburn. Dominant in the scheme, partly because it is the first under construction, is the $2,000,000 Refectory. But nine other large buildings will follow, a series of simple red brick Georgian-style structures in the tradition of the 1770 University Hall, original College Edifice. In the latter buildings will be 17 fraternity units, attached to the dormitories for Freshmen and other non-fraternity men, but each will be distinctive as the result of individual treatment of entrances, bay windows, and ornamentation. Even the ground plan of each building is different, providing a variety of shapes. Step-down levels on the sloping site will add to that variation.

Each fraternity will have a large living room, a chapter room for meetings on the top floor, and generous general recreation space in the basements in addition to privacy for study and sleep on the other floors. Non-fraternity men will also have central living rooms or lounges and recreation areas.

► WHILE EACH UNIT is independent in actual operation, a novel feature provides flexibility which will permit allocation to each fraternity the dormitory space it requires for the number of members on the chapter roster in a given year. The secret of this provision is a device which William Avirett, Education Editor of the New York Herald Tribune, has admirably called "the Wriston wrinkle," for the President conceived it. The key to it is a portable door which can shut off the upstairs corridors at any point to enlarge or reduce the space which a fraternity may request. It is a scheme to provide desired space without waste, to provide it one year without leaving it idle in another as chapter statistics vary. As the University news release pointed out, Brown will rent each chapter as much space as it needs for the number of men in the active chapter but do away with the bugaboo of empty rooms and continued high overhead in any period of smaller delegations initiated. All rooms will be occupied, for studies show that more than 70% of Brown's student body is likely to want dormitory accommodation on campus. But, while the doors will be adequate in making for privacy of one unit from the other, they may be moved so as to include extra rooms in one unit or the other as the requirements dictate.

The builders will use the speedy, economical concrete slab method of construction which has been employed successfully on several other college campuses, casting walls in mass production and then dropping them into place by crane.

► THE ANGLE which seemed to capture the fancy of news editors more than any other was the suggestion of a dry moat four feet deep around the Quadrangle. Protection is the purpose, protection from petty thieves who have invaded dormitories in the past, at Brown and elsewhere. Outside the moat will be a six-foot iron fence, and any thief who climbed this would face a 10-foot drop to the bottom of the moat, from where he would be unable to reach first-floor windows of the buildings. As at Yale, which President Wriston says solved its petty theft problem in similar fashion, there will be porters at the gate-houses. There will be protection, but access for the entitled and the invited.

Seems to us we've had iron fences around the campus before this, thanks to the classes which have given sections through the years. We don't recollect any feeling of incarceration as the result, nor any resentment because we went in through Van Wickle Gates or the Memorial Arch. We like the idea of discouraging the prowler who is tempted by ground-level windows.

"WALKING HOUSES" helped clear the Quadrangle site. Here is Prof. Hasting's home on its way across Benevolent St. to a new location further south. Others included houses of Dean Kenny and JCB Librarian Wroth.

But a "moat," of course, had some connection with drawbridges, swans, and postcard chateaux. In consequence of this feat of association, Brown men have had to bear with witty variations on the theme of flowering knighthood. (We don't believe the Time quote from a "stalwart Greek-letter man" who "moaned": "The moat is just a grave—Wriston dug it for the frats." In the first place, no Greek-letter man would call them frats.) And Brown is improving the quality of its residence for all its students, not just for the "frats" alone.

The irrelevancies, however seductive, are small beside the great undertaking. Andrews Hall at Pembroke has seen two years of good use, and Whitehall, the classroom building, three. Now the final phase, most ambitious of all in the $10,000,000 reckoning, has begun. Look at the beginning; take part in the finishing. For what Brown is digging and building is for a student body that warrants good quarters on College Hill.

► AS THE SUMMER REPORT of the Housing Campaign notes, "the Quadrangle will be the largest single addition to the University plant in its history, and perhaps the most extensive development undertaken by private auspices in the City of Providence. When the project is completed, the College will house approximately 1300 men in permanent facilities (dormitories and fraternity houses) and will have additional temporary space which can be used as the need arises. All resident students will be accommodated in the new dining hall, together with as many commuting students as care to use it. Town and gown alike will benefit. A better ordered, completely integrated and wholly attractive college development will be welcomed by our neighbors. The intellectual and social life of our students will flourish in an improved atmosphere."

The University thus far has received more than four millions in gifts and arranged a loan of one million. Andrews Hall, Whitehall, the land for the Quadrangle, and other expenses have been met, and Brown has a balance of $2,000,000. The Quadrangle project will cost $7,800,000, of which $800,000 has already been spent. With $2,000,000 in hand, $3,000,000 to be borrowed, and $2,000,000 to be raised, the job will be completed.

Proudly the Student Housing Board points to the milestones of last year: 1. All needed property was acquired or committed. 2. Benevolent Street was closed in the strategic block. 3. Construction started. 4. The site for the housing units is being cleared. 5. Brunonians demonstrated their faith in their College and its future by raising contributions to the impressive sum of $4,120,000.

In new regions of alumni concentration the Campaign is making its first appeal this fall, with knowledge of two main targets for 1949-50: first, to obtain another $1,300,000 to qualify for Mr. Rockefeller's third (conditional) gift of approximately $400,000; and second, to commence construction of the housing units in the year ahead. They are headed "for an American college record in loyal participation, for as the Campaign progresses the number giving exceeds 65% of the alumni group reported."

The Report concluded on this confident note: "We have every reason to hope that thousands of friends of the University will lend their help in this dramatic development of a sound educational influence which will serve the country in the critical years to come." ◀

COACH ENGLE

Kicking-Off for the Bears ◀ ◀

Tonight we have with us Dr. Orland Smith of Providence, who was a member of that same Iron Man Team, and who was picked by Grantland Rice for his annual All-American choice at the guard position.

Dr. Smith, I imagine you are looking forward to this reunion with your teammates this weekend . . . Has the team ever gotten together as a unit since your college days?

SMITH: Yes, they got together in the spring of 1946, at which time I was with the Navy in Japan and was the only member absent. I almost had transportation by the Navy to get back to the reunion, but there was one little difficulty: the ship that I was to go on had sailed from Japan the day before they had decided to line up transportation to bring me home.

CUNNINGHAM: Doctor, would you mind telling us a little bit about the games in which you played without substitution that year?

SMITH: We played in two games that year without substitution. One was in the Yale game, which we won, 7 to 0, and the following week we played against Dartmouth and won 10 to 0, also without substitution. The entire 60 minutes was played by just eleven men and somehow or other we just never seemed to get tired.

CUNNINGHAM: I might also point out here that these eleven men were in for 57 minutes of the Harvard game without a nod from the bench, and the team piled up a 21 to 0 margin that day . . . Doctor, do you think that Coach Tus McLaughry was aware at the time that by not substituting for you he was helping to establish a record that would stand like yours has?

SMITH: No, I don't believe so. I think that it was entirely accidental. We seemed to play from one minute to the next. I know that in the Yale game, substitutions had been intended just a few minutes after the kickoff, but we got rolling so well that the minutes just kept going and pretty soon the game was over.

CUNNINGHAM: I see. One question that is debated in football hot stove leagues throughout the country every year, and will probably never be settled to everyone's satisfaction, is the comparison of football through the years . . . Doctor, what do you regard as the biggest difference between college football teams of today as compared with teams of 23 years ago?

SMITH: I think the big difference now is this frequent substitution. I think it is much better for a team to be able to send in replacements at any time during the game. I also like the idea of an offensive and defensive team—or the so-called two platoon system. It gives the men a chance to get rested; to iron out any little bruises they might have, and it makes them much more efficient when it is their turn to go back into the game.

CUNNINGHAM: In other words, you don't think that frequent substitutions have placed the game in the hands of the coaches entirely, as some critics have said.

SMITH: No, I don't think so. I look at this game now from purely a spectator's point of view, and I don't believe that I could run the length of the field without collapsing completely. At the same time, I do enjoy going out to see the game and I think the spectator has quite a lot to say about how popular college football will be in the future.

"KICKOFF, 1949" was a radio preview of Brown University football, with appropriate reference to the past, prompted by the reunion of the famous Iron Men of 1926. But the principal view was forward to the games immediately at stake as an optimistic Bear went to work. (Even more optimistic supporters had cooked up the slogan "Nine for nine in '49," a large order in view of the opposition down the line.) The broadcast brought to the microphone the Brown co-captains, the head coach, Football Official Bill Halloran, who commented on rule changes. We publish herewith the full text of the program as written by James A. Cunningham '41 and Lewis Shaw '48, Director of Athletic Publicity, and broadcast over several New England stations the week of the first game.

SOUND: BLAST OF REFEREE'S WHISTLE.

CUNNINGHAM: It's kickoff time, 1949! The Brown University football network brings you a radio preview of the 64th season of organized football at the seventh oldest college in the country, located here in historic Providence, Rhode Island. To set the stage for our look at the future, and to get things under way, here is Professor Martin Fischer and the 65 piece Brown University band with a song we will be hearing many times this fall: "WE ARE EVER TRUE TO BROWN," written by Donald Jackson of the Class of 1909.

MUSIC: ONE MINUTE.

CUNNINGHAM: Before we pick up our crystal ball and gaze into the happenings of the next nine important weekends in Brown football, let's pause a minute and move back through time to the close of the 1926 football season. That was the year that an unheralded Brown team plowed through some of the best opposition in the country, piling up an impressive record of nine wins and one tie, to emerge as the first and only undefeated team in Brown history. Sports fans were quick to tag the stalwarts who turned this trick with the title that has come down through the years: THE IRON MEN. This weekend, these same eleven men who played together through the entire 1926 season, will get together on the campus for a reunion that is timed to provide spiritual backing for the 1949 edition of Brown football that will take the field against Holy Cross at 2 p.m. Saturday.

WHEN BROWN'S FAMOUS IRON MEN returned to College Hill this fall, they lined up as they did in their Varsity year: in the line—Towle, Hodge, Smith, Consodine, Farber, Kevorkian, and Captain Broda. Helping out Mishel and Randall in the backfield are the 1949 co-captains, John Scott and Joe Paterno. For the reunion story, see page 15.

CUNNINGHAM: Thanks a lot, Dr. Smith, for an All-American performance. We hope that you and your teammates will not only have a good time together this weekend, but that you will be out there at Brown Stadium Saturday watching Brown rack up its first win of the season against the Crusaders of Holy Cross.

One of the colorful sidelights of every game this fall will be the appearance of some 70 pounds of Brown dynamite in the form of Butch Bruno, tenth in a long line of Bruin mascots. As a salute to Butch Bruno X, Professor Fischer and the Brown band play, appropriately enough, "BRUNO," written by Albert G. Chaffee of the Class of 1902.

MUSIC: BRUNO. TIME: TWO MINUTES, THIRTY SECONDS.

CUNNINGHAM: For the second time in Brown football history, the eleven this year will be captained by two men. The last time this happened was in 1940, when Lou Duesing and the late Bronisław Stepczyk shared the honor. John Scott, of West Orange, New Jersey, and Joe Paterno, of Brooklyn, New York, are this year's choices.

Although his football duties are confined to holding down the position at center, John Scott is really a triple-threat man in his own right. He is co-captain of this year's football team, president of his class, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. John, confidentially, how do you do it? Personally, I would be satisfied with any one of those three honors.

SCOTT: You rather have me on a spot here . . . I don't know just how to answer that question . . . I have an interest in all of these activities, and it is pretty hard for me to explain exactly how I get things done.

CUNNINGHAM: What do you do, give time to each according to the season of the year?

SCOTT: Well, I guess that is just about how it has to be done.

CUNNINGHAM: OK, thanks John . . . The other half of this combination is Joe Paterno, older of the two Paternos who will be active in Brown football this year

... Joe, aren't there quite a few boys from your alma mater, Brooklyn Preparatory School, on the squad this fall?

PATERNO: There are four of them on the squad this year: Bucky Walters, our left tackle, Frank Mahoney, our right end, my brother George and myself.

CUNNINGHAM: Aren't all these boys regulars?

PATERNO: Well, we hope so.

CUNNINGHAM: What do they feed you down in Brooklyn to bring you along that way?

PATERNO: As for my brother and myself, plenty of spaghetti. For the others it must be corned beef and hash!

CUNNINGHAM: This is one question where we will get two right answers, but how does the Brown team shape up this fall, from what you have seen of it? ... John?

SCOTT: I think this is our best team since I have been here, and I think that with the hustle and ability of the squad we ought to go a long way this year.

CUNNINGHAM: Joe, what about your opinion?

PATERNO: Well, I will go along pretty much with what John says. This is the best club I have ever played on since I have been up here. I think that if Walt Pastuszak and I can take care of Eddie Finn's spot, we will be all set.

CUNNINGHAM: Thanks very much boys. We know that Brown men everywhere will join me in wishing you "Best of luck." The Brown band now joins in on the good wishes with "BRUNONIA'S BANNERS," or as it is known officially: "The Brown Cheering Song," written by R. B. Jones of the Class of 1907.

MUSIC: TIME: ONE MINUTE, FIFTEEN SECONDS.

CUNNINGHAM: There is always something new under the sun in football and this year is no exception. One of the most important points of the game is the rules under which it is played, and to bring you up-to-date on the most important of the rule changes for 1949, here is William T. Halloran, nationally-known referee and President of the Providence Gridiron Club, who this past weekend handled the Penn State-Villanova game down in Pennsylvania ... Bill, from the spectator's standpoint, what do you think will be some of the most noticeable changes in the game this year?

HALLORAN: There are perhaps five major changes, so let's take them in order starting with the substitution rule. The rule that permitted one substitute to enter the game while the game clock was running or during the 25-second count has now been eliminated. Under the new regulations, legal substitutions are basically restricted to time-out intervals: that is, after incompleting passes, balls out of bounds, and so forth.

Another change provides that when Team B is awarded a first down (basically when the ball changes hands) a time out shall be declared and unlimited substitutions by both teams are permitted. When a coach sends a substitute into the game while time is in or after the ball is ready for play, with time in or out, his team will incur a penalty of five yards. The old rule charging a time out to a team for some violation of the substitution rule is now eliminated. One and the same penalty for such violations is now being enforced — loss of 5 yards.

Another important change is that a kick from scrimmage or a returned kick no longer becomes an automatic touchback when it crosses the receiving team's goal line. A player of the receiving team may catch or recover such a kick in the end zone and advance it. If, however, the ball is declared dead in possession of the receiving team in the end zone, or the ball goes out of bounds in the end zone, a touchback shall be declared.

Perhaps the fourth major change is this: A backward pass or fumble, which goes out of bounds between the goal lines belongs to the passing or fumbling team in the out-of-bounds spot. This eliminates the rule which gave such a fumble or backward pass to the team whose player last touched it before it went out of bounds. I think that we will see fewer injuries to players as a result.

CUNNINGHAM: Bill, very briefly, can you outline some of the other changes for this fall?

HALLORAN: Perhaps the most radical one has to do with the forward pass. Now there are only two ways a legal forward pass can become incomplete. First, by striking the ground inbounds or by going out of bounds. If a forward pass touches an ineligible receiver, or a second originally eligible receiver the ball now continues in play. When a forward pass touches one eligible receiver and is then caught by a second eligible receiver, the pass is complete and may be advanced. This is a new innovation. It is also a definite shift from the former rule which specified that such a pass would be ruled as incomplete.

CUNNINGHAM: This forward passing question has some other new rules too, doesn't it Bill?

HALLORAN: Yes. This year there is a new penalty prescribed for intentionally grounding a forward pass or intentionally throwing a forward pass to an ineligible receiver. The penalty now is: loss of 5 yards and a down, enforced from the spot of the foul; that is, the spot from where the ball was thrown.

The most radical change in forward passing is one that pertains to the quarterback. A player who is in position to take a hand-to-hand snap from the center is always ineligible as a receiver of a forward pass. This rule, so controversial in the past, now means that a back who is in position to take a hand-to-hand snap is ineligible. The administration of this rule will be a judgment ruling at times, of course.

CUNNINGHAM: Bill, what do you think the net result of all these rule changes is going to be in terms of the kind of game the spectator is going to see this fall?

HALLORAN: Well, I think the game is going to be more wide open than it has been before, and will probably result in greater scores. That's already been proven in the few games played since the beginning of the season.

CUNNINGHAM: Thank you Bill Halloran, for your interesting and informative discussion of the 1949 rules. I know that your remarks will make it easier for the spectators to appreciate some of the finer points of the game.

As a tribute to Brown's first opponent on the nine-game schedule this fall, here is a salute to the Crusaders from Worcester, a medley of Holy Cross songs arranged by Professor Fischer and played by the Brown University band:

MUSIC: TIME: THREE MINUTES.

CUNNINGHAM: Our final guest on Kickoff, 1949, is the head man of Brown's football fortunes, Coach Charles A. (Rip) Engle... Rip, now that your pre-season practice is at an end, what is your up-to-date appraisal of the 1949 squad?

ENGLE: Well Jim, I think we are going to have a pretty good football team—at least I hope so. Our passing is going along pretty well; our team spirit is good, and we have hopes of having a good year—at least all the boys are working at it. We have not picked up any new material. I don't know how many sophomores are going to give us any help, but at the present time very little, which leaves us with just the boys we had last year, minus 11 lettermen from last year's squad. Materially, we are not going to be any better.

CUNNINGHAM: Can you give us an idea of what your starting lineup will be for Saturday's game?

ENGLE: Well, we are trying to more or less use the two-platoon system, and if not in offense and defense platoons, we will do it by quarters. At left end we will have Altieri and Searles, probably Searles will start. At left tackle will be Walters and he will probably stand up quite a bit of the game. At left guard will be Hodosh, and with him will be Hutchinson and Pietro. At center will be Scott and Kiely on offense and Bryson will play there on defense. At right guard we have Chernack on the offense mostly and De Simone on defense. At right tackle will be Colo and Hill alternating there and at right end will be Mahoney and Powers.

The backfield will be Kozak and Young at left half and Green and George Paterno at fullback. Joe Paterno and Pastuszak will be at the C back, or quarterback position, and at right halfback will be Nelson and Rodewig.

CUNNINGHAM: Rip, I know you are thinking strictly in terms of this Saturday's game with Holy Cross. You saw the Crusaders against Georgetown last week: what do you think they will do this Saturday at Brown Field?

ENGLE: Well, I am very much concerned about the team and Saturday's game. I don't think we will be in quite as good condition as I had hoped we would be. Our trip to Dartmouth seemed to bring out a lot of colds and sickness, and with Holy Cross having a game under its belt, I think it is going to be a very tough afternoon. They played a great game up there for 20 minutes. In fact, their game last Saturday with Georgetown resembled our Harvard game last year. I believe that if they play as they did in the first quarter, we are going to have as much or more than we can handle. They looked like a great football team in the first quarter and if they are as tough as we were after our Harvard game last year, it can be a very rough afternoon, but we are going into it hoping for the best and we are going to do our very best to try to win.

CUNNINGHAM: Thanks a lot Rip Engle for giving us a first-hand report on the 1949 Brown team. We all hope that this will be your most successful season.

One of the oldest sports traditions at Brown University is the ringing of the 116 year old bell on top of the original college edifice, University Hall, to signal a victory over a football opponent... We bring you now a special on-the-spot recording of the VICTORY BELL as we feel sure it will ring out many times throughout this 1949 football season.

SOUND: BELL RECORDING—SOLO FOR 13 SECONDS... THEN FADE IN "ALMA MATER"... FADE BELL... CONTINUE "ALMA MATER" UNTIL ANNOUNCER'S SIGNAL TO FADE

CUNNINGHAM: With the playing of the familiar strains of ALMA MATER, we bring to a close your preview highlights of Brown University's 64th season of organized football.

A TRUSTEE returns to head up Public Relations work at Brown.

▶▶ THOMAS B. APPLEGET '17, Trustee of Brown University and one-time Executive Secretary and assistant to President Faunce, returned to College Hill in October as Vice-President in charge of public relations. He has been for the past 20 years Vice-President of the Rockefeller Foundation in New York. His new post follows life-long activity on behalf of Brown, as worker for many University causes, popular speaker at many alumni affairs, and member of the Advisory and Executive Committee.

Missing from the official news release from the campus was a definition of the duties which will be his. However, President Wriston told the Providence Journal over the phone from New York that Mr. Appleget's responsibilities will probably include "liaison work between the present Brown News Bureau and the President's office and liaison work in dealing with fund-raising activities for the school." He will also participate to some extent in alumni affairs. Dr. Wriston said there is no hard and fast organizational chart for administrative personnel at the University.

Alumni will welcome the return of this able and agreeable graduate to the official family at Brown; he has a wide circle of friendship among Brunonians as well as wide acquaintanceship with national leaders in various fields. Unconfirmed intimation was that Mr. Appleget would resign his membership in the Brown Corporation as a life member of the Board of Trustees and the A. and E. Committee.

As Vice-President of the Rockefeller Foundation in New York, Mr. Appleget has had general charge of the Foundation's grant-in-aid and fellowship programs, of several of its departments, and of relationships with its London and Paris offices. He was for several years director of the Foundation's China program and also organized and administered its program for refugee European scholars between 1940 and 1945.

A native of Hightstown, N. J., Mr. Appleget became Executive Secretary of Brown immediately after graduating from the University with a Ph.B. degree in 1917. After spending the year 1918 in the Army infantry, he served the University until 1925, also handling the position of assistant to President Faunce during the last year. His responsibilities included admission of students, the Alumni Fund and other campaigns for funds, alumni relationships, placement work for Senior students, and assistance to the President in other administrative matters.

In 1925 he resigned his post at Brown to become executive secretary to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., '97 in New York, a position he held until 1929 when he was appointed Vice-President of the Rockefeller Foundation. In the meantime, his association with Brown continued.

An Alumni Trustee of Brown between 1928 and 1934, Mr. Appleget was elected a life Trustee in 1936, and a member of the University's Advisory and Executive Committee in 1938. He is a member of several of Brown's committees and was recently named to the Student Housing Board, becoming chairman of the building committee on the new refectory. For several years in New York he served as a Trustee of the Alumni Fund, and has been a member of the Board of Governors of the New York Brown Club for some time. For a few years, too, he served as a member of the visiting committee to the Brown English department.

Also in New York he has been a trustee of the Davidson Fund and of Community Surveys, Inc., and just after World War II headed several committees of the New York National War Fund.

As an undergraduate at Brown, Appleget was a James Manning, Francis Wayland and Gaston Scholar, and a winner of a Carpenter Premium. Excellent scholastic standing won him membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the national honor society, in his junior year, and in his final year he was chosen Commencement speaker.

Despite having to work part of his way through college, he took very active roles in undergraduate affairs, belonging to the student governing body, the Cammarian Club; and heading the Athletic Board and the Brown Christian Association. A member of Delta Phi fraternity, he was also associate editor of the Brown Daily Herald, and editor of The Brunonian. He graduated summa cum laude with honors in English, and took graduate studies at both Brown and Cornell.

Mr. Appleget is editor of Brown University in the War, published in 1919, and co-editor with Prof. William T. Hastings '04 of Songs of Brown University, published in 1928. In 1937 he also edited the volume John Davidson Rockefeller, 1839-1937.

A member of the Century Club, the Providence Art Club and the Round Hill Club, he was married in 1940 to Sara Elizabeth Love. They have since made their home in Greenwich, Conn. His step-son was a 1949 graduate of Brown. ◀

Connecticut's Chief Justice

▶ UPON THE RETIREMENT of Chief Justice William M. Maltbie on his 70th birthday, March 10, Allyn L. Brown '05, Brown Trustee, will become Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Errors of the State of Connecticut. Judge Brown has completed 28 years on the bench, having begun his term of service as a Judge of the Superior Court in the fall of 1921. He was elevated to the Supreme bench as Associate Justice in January, 1936.

He is a former Mayor of his home town, Norwich, and served one term as State Senator. He has been on the Brown Corporation as a Trustee since 1930, elected on the 25th anniversary of his graduation. ◀

Uncle Sam at Brown ◀

(Reprinted from the Christian Science Monitor)

▶▶ BROWN UNIVERSITY, founded on the classical tradition featuring Greek and Latin, today is the site of approximately $1,000,000 worth of federal research projects. This is not to imply that the basic academic objectives of the university have been swerved by the influx of federal funds. As a matter of fact, army, navy, air force, and other government contracts comprise a very small portion of the Brown University budget.

But Brown, like hundreds of larger and smaller universities across the United States, is adjusting itself to doing business regularly with Uncle Sam. Research projects on campus financed in whole or in part by the government range from study of high-speed aerodynamics to investigation of the structure of molecules and crystals, navigation, and applied mathematics.

Some of the work is classified, or secret. These are the studies which involve military weapons or information. This activity goes on behind locked doors. Most of the research, however, is not of the cloak-and-dagger variety. The majority of projects involve study of fundamental fields and results are usually published for all to see in keeping with Brown research policy.

As is the case in virtually all of the universities with sponsored research, government agencies provide the greatest number of assignments. At Brown, the $977,839 in government contracts currently in operation can be compared with the $99,233 provided by private foundations and the $38,558 by industrial concerns. These figures include contracts which are due to run for three years or so, as well as those which are expected to be renewed or expanded.

▶ GOVERNMENT RESEARCH is seen by university officials as only supplementing the strong natural science program already in existence before the government began spending so much on sponsored studies.

"We do not accept contracts that are not in the established zones of our interests nor contracts that require us to go way into applied research," according to Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Brown President.

"We do not take contracts out of scale to our total budget so that the policy of the University is deflected by the existence of such contracts or made dependent upon them.

"Government support of research is dangerous," Dr. Wriston feels, "if it deflects the basic intent of the University, or takes too much time and energy from this program, or if the terms are so onerous as to restrict activities." But Dr. Wriston adds: "None of these things have happened at Brown up to this time."

Programs receiving the greatest amount of outside support from all sources are those conducted by the Graduate Division of Applied Mathematics, with $600,501 in contracts; the Physics Department $215,957, and the Chemistry Department with $125,982.

Some of the work in the Graduate Division of Applied Mathematics is classified. But nonsecret activities include a study of the plasticity of metals under the joint sponsorship of the Office of Naval Research and the Navy Bureau of Ships. Here the aim is to find a better understanding of what happens to mild steel under stress. The Division has a staff of 11 professors, 12 research assistants, seven computers, draftsmen, and machinists and eight secretaries. Roughly three-quarters of these do work in connection with sponsored research under the direction of Prof. William W. Prager, Chairman.

▶ NAVY FUNDS are supporting two major programs in the Chemistry Department. One involves study of the structure of molecules and crystals. The other is for the investigation of "nature and properties of a shock front in a gas." Currently engaged in this study are four staff members, two post-doctoral fellows and three graduate fellows, as well as an under-graduate assistant.

Operation of the Ultrasonics Laboratory and the Research Laboratory of Physical Electronics—the former largely subsidized by the Office of Naval Research and the latter to a lesser degree—comes under the Physics Department, headed by Prof. R. Bruce Lindsay. The ultrasonics workers are investigating certain aspects of the transmission of high frequency sound through solids, liquids, and gases. Study in the physical electronics laboratory concerns single metal crystals.

Army, Navy, Air Force, and industrial contracts are under way in the Division of Engineering under the supervision of Prof. John H. Marchand. High-speed aerodynamics and combustion are among the subjects being studied. The new wind tunnel in use—unlike those at a number of universities—was built by University funds and is owned entirely by the University.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

In all, some 25 full- and part-time workers are involved in this division.

In the Department of Astronomy, workers under the direction of Prof. Charles H. Smiley, Chairman, are seeking ways of making navigation more accurate in polar regions. Contracts here amount to $17,495.

Two Navy contracts are under way in the Department of Psychology, headed by Prof. Walter S. Hunter. These concern taste and vision. Here the sponsored research budget is $33,850.

Biology Department sponsored research involves $37,971 and is concentrated along medical lines. Prof. Walter Wilson, Department Chairman, directs this work.

Brown also has a $41,000 sponsored study of the history of mathematics in process at this time, a reminder of the important part played by mathematicians in today's technology. ◀

Nearly $10,000 to Alumni Fund

▶ WITHOUT THE BENEFIT of an organized campaign in the old manner, the Brown Alumni Fund received $9,762.94 during 1948-1949, according to Robert O. Loosley, Secretary of the University. On the siding while the Housing Campaign express had the clear track, the Alumni Fund demonstrated that annual giving has its appeal to many Brunonians. Most of the gifts were received during the pre-Commencement period in June when Fund Chairman Thomas F. Black, Jr., '19 sent a notice to those alumni not solicited during 1949 for the greater program of the Quadrangle.

The Alumni Fund received $7,598.17 in gifts and pledges from 365 individuals, the average gift being $20.82. To this was added $805.35 income from the Alumni Endowment of the Alumni Fund and $256.42 from the Class of 1892 Fund.

The Alumni Endowment of the Brown Alumni Fund was increased by $1,103 in new gifts. This does not in-

A Year of Football Promise ◀ ◀

▶▶ A PIPE-REAM or a bubble burst in the Palmer Stadium at Princeton Oct. 15 when Brown lost its first Ivy League game of the season 27-14 and on the day's play thoroughly deserved to lose. A Bruin line of which so much had been expected just didn't measure up, offensively or defensively, and a Tiger team which was 'way up for the game moved impressively for its victory.

The bubble that popped was the ambitious goal of "Nine for Nine in '49" set for Brown on the strength of early season promise based on scrimmages against Springfield and Dartmouth and its first two official victories. Princeton, a surprise in its 14-13 defeat by Penn, showed precision, power, and deception that was missing from the Brown attack. The Orangemen drove for four scores on marches of 85, 60, 42, and 65 yards, adding another on a safety while Brunonian misplays made the task easier than it should have been.

Earlier Brown had humbled Holy Cross for the third straight time and pulled its punches in meeting an inferior Rhode Island State. The squad included 22 lettermen from last year, the principal loss being that of Ed Finn, 1948's ace passer, but with Joe Paterno, Walt Pastuszak, and Sophomore Eldridge groomed by Tommy Thompson of the Philadelphia Eagles last spring Coach Engle hoped to provide an aerial threat. High morale and plenty of competition in the squad seemed likely to avoid what the coaches called "senioritis," the loss of top form which hits some veterans.

Again Engle is using his explosive winged-T that has been so widely copied. It gave Brown last year its best record since 1932, seven out of nine. He employs a two-platoon system in about eight or nine positions, with some of the players working interchangeably on offense or defense, instead of specializing however. The starting eleven was composed of eight Seniors and three Juniors, giving a foretaste of "losses" next June. Feeling seemed to be that this is the most likely year for Brown out of the next two or three.

Brown 28, Holy Cross 6

▶ BREAKING THROUGH for three touchdowns in 13 minutes of the first half, Brown went on to hand Holy Cross its worst defeat since 1942 and by the biggest margin the Bear had enjoyed in the long series. It was three straight for Brown against the Crusaders, giving it a 13-11 edge in the series, which includes two tie games. But the Bruins had never been so emphatic as on the opening day of the season Oct. 1

The Purple, defeated the previous Saturday by Georgetown 20-13, provided an early threat with an advance which reached the Brown 16, but Walters, being watched for All-American play at tackle, put a squelcher on that with a fumble recovery. A booming punt by Kozak, which carried from his 28-yard line to the Cross 11, completed the job, and the visitors to Brown Field never penetrated so dangerously again, except for its lone score in the last quarter. The pressure was thoroughly eased after the next sequence when Co-Captain Paterno returned a punt 68 yards for a touchdown on a handsome runback, aided by a fake handoff and solid blocks by Don Colo and Altieri.

Brown had the ball again one play after the ensuing kickoff when Hutchinson dropped on a loose ball on the Crusaders' 21. Two plays by Young made a first down on the nine, where Nelson slipped over right guard for the score. From their 26-yard stripe, the Brown backs moved again in 12 plays, mostly traps through center and off-tackle bursts, for Young's touchdown. Turco broke the ice after a scoreless third period, his long run from scrimmage providing the six-pointer for the Bear's guests, but Joe Paterno hit White with a pass for a fourth Brown TD. Joe Condon, who had joined the squad only a couple of days before, hit for four on conversions to show he hadn't lost his eye during a summer of work for the United Nations.

Brown's passing was not impressive, despite the one touchdown by air. But the line play and the running assault was of high order. With many gains nullified by penalties (140 yards), Brown's statistics were not particularly impressive: 14 first downs to Holy Cross' 8, 244 yards rushing to 160, and three completed passes in 10 tries for 25 yards, while the Purple completed eight of 17 for 124 yards. But the defensive strength was there when it counted, and the offense looked sound.

Engle used 30 men: Ends—Searles, Altieri, Bowdring, Mahoney, Powers, White. Tackles—Walters, Macko, Hill, Colo. Guards—Hodosh, Hutchinson, Stien, Pietro, Bryson, Chernak, DeSimone. Centers—Scott, Kiely, Condon. Backs—Joe and George Paterno, Pastuszak, Kozak, Young, Nelson, Rodewig, Savoye, Green, DiMott.

IRONIC NOTE: Brown's 1926 Iron Man team (only Cornsweet was missing) was back for a reunion and was presented to the crowd. They lined up on the field as their names were called, even Charlie Consodine who was recovering from a serious operation. These veterans of 60-minute play against Yale and Dartmouth must have made some interesting comments as Coach Engle introduced his two-platoon system of offensive and defensive players.

Brown 46, Rhode Island 0

▶ AGAINST an outclassed team from Kingston, Rip Engle emptied the Brown bench Oct. 8, using every sub in the 51-man squad dressed for the day in defeating Rhode Island by one of the largest scores in the 40-year old series. It was the 26th time in 35 games that the whitewash score was posted, and the regulars were used in the second half only for a brief warmup at the end. Noteworthy in the touchdown parade was Searles' on a short toss from Pastuszak, his first in three years of Varsity competition. State kept trying valiantly all the way, gambling on 37 passes, nine of which were completed by her own men and 11 by Brown defenders. Pastuszak nipped off five of them, while Joe Paterno, who teamed with him last year to establish one of the nation's top defensive records against aials, ran another interception back for a touchdown. Kozak's 54-yard scoring run was the longest and prettiest of the day (barring one by DiMott called back for a penalty), while Young and Beaulieu each had two scores apiece.

BIGGEST ROAR from the crowd all afternoon came when Rhody's mascot, a blue-horned ram, was led out onto the field between the halves to meet Butch Bruno. He caught one sight of the bear cub, broke loose from his handlers, and tore off as fast as he could leg it... The Brown Daily Herald editorially urged that the series with Rhode Island be terminated, because it is occasionally "no contest," because people stay away from it, because "nobody likes to be bully or to be bullied," because modern scheduling avoids "breathers," because men are hurt when play lets down (although Capt. Jacuele was put out of action for the season last year, no one was injured this fall), and because bad feeling growing out of the football situation might affect the good relationships in other sports (where, as a matter of fact, Rhode Island has had the modern edge).

Princeton 27, Brown 14

► PRINCETON'S FIRST TOUCHDOWN on an advance of 85 yards came in nine plays, before the crowd of 24,000 had hardly settled in its seats. But Brown retaliated with offensive gestures of its own, running the kickoff back to the 40 and then completing a Paterno-Mahoney pass for 20 yards more, only to lose the ball on a fumble after another respectable gain on the ground. What sort of a game it might have been if this miscue had not occurred is pure speculation, but as it was Princeton gained confidence with each play, while Brown dug itself deeper into trouble.

Even with the score 19-0 against it at the half, Brown had memories of a year ago when it came back to win after as inauspicious a beginning. This hope was fortified when Mahoney carried a Pastuszak pass to the two yard line and Young plunged. Condon, who had won the 1948 game, converted for the seventh point. But this time Princeton didn't let up, found the five-man line defense to its liking, and scored again.

A forward-passing attack, which had not been too able in the other games, was Brown's only threat as it was held to 41 yards rushing. The aerial weapon backfired in yielding a safety but provided a second touchdown, on a spectacular 65-yard pass and run in which Pastuszak aided Nelson to score. Though Brown managed to outscore the home team during the second half, the Tigers' baffling reverses and willing blocks kept us backed up most of the time. In possession of the ball, the Bear seemed well-scouted, outcharged on the line, and uncertain behind what interference there was. Some penalties were incurred at critical junctures, there were miscues at others, and the team just couldn't seem to get into the game. The platoons that were supposed to use the squad depth to best advantage had a lot of traffic all day.

For once, statistics were an accurate reflection of what happened. Princeton had 21 first downs to Brown's six, gained 244 yards rushing to 75. In the air, Brown completed 11 of 26 tries for 210 yards, while Princeton's eight of 22 meant 130 yards. Except in spurts, Brown didn't come up to its expectations or its potential. It will play better football. It should still be a good season. ◀

A Reunion of the Iron Men ◀ ◀

By JOHNNY SWANTON

Sports Editor, Brown Daily Herald

▶▶ THE BROWN CAMPUS welcomed home one of its most famous football teams on October 1, and after 23 years the Iron Men of 1926 gathered in a body for a football game at Brown Stadium—this time as spectators, however. An idea conceived last June by two members of the Brown Daily Herald sports staff culminated before the Brown-Holy Cross football game this year, and the only football team in Brown's gridiron history which went undefeated was honored for the weekend.

Festivities started the night before, at 6 p.m. in the Daily Herald offices when the 1926 squad gathered to begin their round of weekend appearances. They then proceeded to Faunce House terrace where they were introduced to the gathered throng at the pre-game football rally. After their appearance on the terrace the team adjourned to the studio of WBRU, campus radio network, where they did a tape recording broadcast for radio station WHIM in Providence. The transcription was played back over WHIM one half hour before the Yankee-Red Sox broadcast on Saturday afternoon.

When the broadcast was completed the team repaired to Johnson's Hummocks Grill for the Brown Iron Men Reunion Banquet which began at 8 p.m. There were 77 invited guests, friends of the team and honored members at the dinner, and Director of Student Activities at Brown, W. S. B. Tate acted as toastmaster for the evening. Jimmy Jemal '18 was the featured speaker of the evening. Jemal is the Inquiring Photographer for the New York Daily News, and gave an interesting talk to the assembled group. Other speakers included former Coach and Athletic Director Wally Snell, Captain Hal Broda, and Dave Mishel of the Iron Men, Athletic Director Paul F. Mackesey, Head Coach Rip Engle, and Daily Herald sports representatives Johnny Swanton, reunion chairman, and Jay Barry, dinner chairman.

One of the greatest hits of the evening, and a complete surprise to the assembled Iron Men was a tape-recording speech by Tuss McLaughry, present Dartmouth coach, and coach of the Iron Men in 1926. Tuss welcomed the team and proceeded to introduce them to the banquet group calling the squad off by positions.

Saturday at Brown Field the nationally famous team appeared before the Brown-Holy Cross football game and lined up in their old positions on the field as the P. A. system introduced them to the spectators. The team was then led off the field and into a specially reserved section of seats in the stands by Captain Hal Broda.

The reunion weekend was sponsored by the Brown Daily Herald for a twofold purpose. The Herald believed that after 23 years the Iron Men should be brought back to the campus, and that since 1949 promises to be one of Brown's best gridiron years the only undefeated team in Brown history should be on hand to initiate the season.

Up until late Friday afternoon of the reunion weekend all 11 members of the team were slated to appear, but a telegram from Al Cornsweet from Virginia stated that last minute complications would prevent his coming. Ten of the 11 members were on hand.

The guest list for the Reunion Banquet reads like an All-American football prediction chart. Some of the former Brown grid greats on hand were: Dr. Adolph Eckstein, Bill Broomhead, Edgar J. Staff, Bill and Tom Gilbane, Joe Buonanno, Maury Caito, Ernie Savignano, and Andy Rotelli.

Harvard Game Warning

▶ ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Paul F. Mackesey has asked us to remind Brunonians again of the situation with regard to tickets for the Harvard football game in Cambridge Nov. 12. Harvard's new policy opens certain sections of the visitors' side to Harvard season-ticket holders. Brown's allotment of choice locations this year was sharply restricted in consequence—to a point con-

Mackesey repeated his warning of last summer in these pages: Get your tickets early. The best go first.

November Schedules

▶ SEVEN BROWN TEAMS are competing this fall, with headline games remaining on the schedule for November. The varsity football eleven (the name persists, even in these days of platoons) meets Yale at New Haven on the 5th, Harvard at Cambridge on the 12th, Columbia in New York on the 19th, and Colgate in Providence for the Thanksgiving Day attraction on the 24th. The Junior Varsity winds up its six-game schedule with Yale on the 5th and Harvard on the 11th, both games away. The Freshmen, with a season interrupted out of deference to mid-semester, play only Harvard in November—on the 12th at Cambridge.

Soccer concludes with a visit from Dartmouth Nov. 4, a game at M. I. T. on the 9th, and Harvard coming to Aldrich Field Nov. 11. The Freshmen card lists: Nov. 4 at Tufts, Nov. 9 at M. I. T., and Nov. 12 at Harvard.

Except for one with Providence College on Armistice Day, the dual meets in cross country will have been run when November arrives. However the squad is entered in the Heptagonals in New York on Nov. 5, the New England on the 7th, and the IC4A run on the 21st. The Freshmen will also race Providence College on the 11th.

▶▶ Visiting the Brown Clubs

The New Student Body

▶▶ AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES and colleges are finding it difficult to get back to normal after the postwar influx of veteran students. President Wriston told a gathering of Brown alumni and undergraduates in Hartford Sept. 8. He pointed out that the veterans, who have been a stabilizing influence on the colleges, are disappearing from the academic scene through graduation—most of them by this June. "We are now getting back to the schoolboy days," he said. "It will be a very difficult transition for both the boys and us." (At the first Faculty Club meeting of the year, too, he said that the Freshman Class was essentially made up of boys just out of school and reminded his hearers of the teaching adjustment it would entail.)

The veterans were serious-minded men, who studied well, knew what they wanted in education, and were in a hurry to make up for lost time, he said. The new students, however high their aptitude and careful their selection, would have less maturity and less urgent a motivation.

The occasion was the annual send-off dinner for the Connecticut undergraduates, sponsored by the Hartford Brown Club at the Hartford Club. As Secretary Cy Flanders wrote, these dinners "get larger every year." This fall 130 persons, 30 of them entering Freshmen, attended and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Co-operating were the Brown Clubs of Eastern Connecticut and New Haven. President Russell Grannis introduced the alumni from those Clubs.

Then the new Freshmen were given a rousing hand. It was to them that Rev. Edwin H. Tuller addressed himself, with a humorous and inspiring message that rallied them to the cause of Brown at the start of their college careers. "The introduction that Tuller gave Dr. Wriston set the stage for a talk that held us spell-bound," Flanders reports. Dr. Wriston was at his best—informal, amusing, informative, exciting, he was terrific. He was given an ovation after he had finished."

Among those present were Jesse H. Smith '96 of Suffield Academy and Frank O. Jones '97. Larry Smith led in the singing of Brown songs, in which everyone joined lustily. Another guest from Providence was the Alumni Executive Officer, William B. McCormick.

Coming up on the Hartford calendar is a Sports Night, Nov. 2, while on Nov. 20 Prof. Smiley will be the speaker before a meeting to which Pembroke alumnae are being invited.

Before the Yale Game

▶ THE NIGHT BEFORE the Yale game, the New Haven Brown Club will continue its annual custom with a football smoker at the Taft Hotel. It is one of the largest and best Brown gatherings of the year anywhere, and the Club's invitation is extended to any Brunonian in town for the game. This year's speakers include Athletic Director Paul Mackesey and Prof. W. E. S. Moulton, Director of Physical Education and hockey coach. Movies of Brown football will top off the evening.

In addition to participating in the all-Connecticut send-off at Hartford, New Haven had its own yearly party for undergraduates and entering Freshmen. The affair was a weiner roast, held again at the home of Robert Dugan, former President of the Club.

THE NEW BRUNO meets the committees which ran the Rhode Island Brown Club's Clambake Scrimmage. Tentative but also pleased are, left to right, Paul Welch, John Lownes, Mason Dunn, and Norman Silverman. (Two of their neckties also featured bears.)

Middle West Rally

► BROWN ALUMNI in the Middle West will converge on Cleveland Oct. 28 to see the Western Reserve football battle next day and join with the Ohio men in pre-game and post-game festivities. Clubs in Chicago, Detroit, and Pittsburgh are co-operating with those in Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Canton, and Cincinnati in support of a splendid program.

Things will get under way at the University Club in Cleveland at 5:30 on the 28th, with dinner scheduled for 7. President Millis of Reserve, who became an honorary alumnus of Brown while at the University of Vermont, and Vice-President Bigelow will head the list of guests, who include Athletic Directors Councell of Reserve and Mackesey of Brown, Coaches Scarry of Reserve and Engle of Brown, Sports Editor Gordon Cobbledick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and the entire Brown football squad.

While the dinner on the 28th will be a stag affair, an informal luncheon has been arranged for noon on Saturday before the game for out-of-town alumni and their wives. This will also be held at the University Club, which is not too far from the field and has ample parking space. The Cleveland Brown Club plans a cocktail party after the game. During the evening Brunonians who are members of the University Club have made arrangements so that visiting couples may attend the regular Saturday evening dance there.

It will be the first Bear football invasion of the Middle West in years, and the Cleveland Club is determined to do things up brown, Harry Hoffman writes. ◀

Clambake Scrimmage

► THE CLAMBAKE SCRIMMAGE will probably go on the books as an annual event, if the success of the experiment by the Brown Club of Rhode Island and the Athletic Department is any criterion. Several hundred members of the Club had a private pre-view of the 1949 football team when Coach Engle staged an intra-squad game scrimmage on Brown Field Sept. 16. Later in the afternoon a motor cavalcade found its way to the Francis Farm in Rehoboth for a fine bake, at which press and radio men from New England and New York were appreciative guests. Coach Engle held a press conference, and President E. John Lownes '23 had a brief word of welcome. Informal sports filled in the afternoon. ◀

For New York's Freshmen

► ONE HUNDRED of the 140 Freshmen entering from the metropolitan area were the guests of the Brown University Club in New York for its annual Sub-Freshman Dinner Sept. 7. About 40 alumni had been asked to help entertain, moving from table to table as each course was served.

Joseph E. O'Neil, chairman for the affair, introduced Toastmaster Thomas S. Watson, Jr., while the principal speakers were Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow and Dean of Admission Emery R. Walker, Jr. They had general advice for the Brunonian newcomers, as well as information about the impending Freshman Week. Such notables as Earl Sprackling, Ralph Palmer, and Lee Marshall were asked to take a bow.

The tournament to decide the Club golf championship was held Sept. 20 at the Quaker Ridge Country Club in Scarsdale. Since a tie for low gross resulted between Joseph F. Halloran '16 and Dr. Arnold P. Conaty '43, they were declared co-champions for 1949. Other prize-winners were Edward Sulzberger '29, low net, and Myron Buchsbaum '34, kicker. Committee Chairman Sulzberger presided over the dinner which followed and called on President Fred Rohlf, Sprackling, Paul O'Brien, and the co-champions.

The annual football dinner will be held Nov. 2, the Wednesday before the Yale game. Movies and a good speaking program will cover the gridiron situation in promising fashion. A report on the football picture was also expected for the first Club luncheon, Oct. 28, while the Club had a block of tickets for the Princeton game so that members could see at first hand what the prospect was.

The Brown Club will once again be represented in the Metropolitan Squash Racquets Association competition, with a team of "C" players. ◀

Vermont's First

► TWENTY-FIVE ALUMNI, at the first Brown meeting ever held in Vermont, heard President Wriston strike out at the proposed program for Federal aid to education and adopted a resolution supporting the Brown Corporation in maintaining an independent institution free from such subsidy and its controls. The passing of educational controls to the Government is a creeping process, Dr. Wriston asserted, with many private institutions becoming more and more reliant on Federal money. Extension of the practice would lead to Government control of the nation's school system, he said.

President Wriston told the alumni, gathered at the Wheeler Williams in Rutland Oct. 3, he was no stranger to Vermont, having worked in Brandon on the first job he ever held and later worked summers selling books while paying his way through college.

The meeting was presided over by Leon S. Gay '06 of Cavendish, while his classmates Judge Ernest Moore and Joseph L. Wheeler of Ludlow were also present. Assisting with arrangements was Ernest C. Hathaway '18 of Rutland. Dr. John M. Thomas of Mendon, formerly President of Rutgers, Penn State, Middlebury, and Norwich, was a guest.

The enthusiastic group included: Harold G. High '09 of Weston, Lawton V. Crocker, Chester map-maker, Rev. J. Russell Case '13 of Vergennes, Rev. Edwin L. Thornton '21 of North Springfield, Carl O. Samuelson '23 of Newport, Prof. Charles G. Doll '24 of the University of Vermont, William Ballou '25, Chester banker, Rev. G. Lewis Porter '25, of Rutland, Stanley T. Adams '27 of Saxton's River, John Drysdale '28, Randolph Publisher, Prof. Norman J. Blair '33 of Green Mountain Junior College, Dr. William A. Hill, Jr., '36 of the Vermont Board of Health, Frederick M. May '36 of Bellows Falls, Norman S. Case, Jr., Bethel lawyer, Richard F. Buck '42 of Barre, Shailer R. Cummings '42 of Bennington, Richard B. Edgar '48 of Sherburne Center, Robert W. Phillips '48 of Middlebury, and H. E. Van Surdam of the Housing and Development Fund Staff. There were greetings from Lester H. Nichols '04 of Bennington, Rev. Emil A. Ahokas '46 of Cabot, and Thurman F. Naylor '48 of Whiting, who had expected to attend.

The Fall in Washington

▶ THE YEAR 'ROUND the Washington Brown Club provides something good for its members. During the summer the regular weekly luncheons were continued—each Wednesday at 12:30 in O'Donnell's Restaurant in downtown Washington. On Aug. 31 the Club had as its special luncheon guests the undergraduates and three entering Freshmen from the area. Featured guest was John Ellinwood, winner of the first scholarship award made out of the Club's newly established fund.

Athletic Director Paul Mackesey was to pay his annual visit to Washington Oct. 26 on the occasion of the Club's sports night smoker. Earlier it was planned to send a delegation to the Princeton game, tying in with plans of the Philadelphia Brown Club. Last year, too, the Washington men joined the Philadelphians at a pre-game buffet in Princeton.

November's plan is for a repetition of the 1948 cocktail party, so successful that there was demand for another this fall. It may be scheduled to coincide with the Thanksgiving vacation at Brown so that the undergraduates home for the holidays may be included. The annual business meeting and election of officers will follow a dinner in December or January, when it is hoped to have one of the University's official family as guest speaker.

In addition to the above activities, the Club is again competing this fall in the Washington Intercollegiate Bowling League. The matches come each Thursday night at the Chevy Chase Alleys, where, as usual, George Hurley, Club President, is anxious that all enthusiasts have their chance. He may be reached by phone at CHestnut 3703.

All new men in the Washington area are invited to take part in Brown Club activities. The Secretary's phone number is REpublic 5600, Ext. 5082.

Round-up in Albany

▶ BRUNONIANS of the Northeastern New York region played host to undergraduates on the eve of their return to the Brown campus Sept. 9 at the annual fall meeting of the Brown Club, held in the University Club of Albany. Carl E. Martin '23 of Troy presided.

Speakers included Dr. Charles S. Aldrich '94, who gave an informal account of campus life in his day; Roland K. Brown, Director of Athletics at R. P. I., former Brunonian athlete and coach; and Henderson E. Van Surdam, field representative for the Brown Housing and Development Fund.

The first issue (and a fine one—Ed.) of the Brown Club Newsletter appeared last summer, including a roster of alumni in the area, news of the spring meeting, and discussion of a number of projects.

WILLIAM P. SAUNDERS

Dominion Welcome

▶ WHEN VIRGINIANS WELCOME, they really welcome. The editor of this magazine enjoyed fine Dominion hospitality July 15 in Richmond at the Jefferson Hotel, where Regional Vice-President Ernest S. Fitz '11 was host. The group included Walter I. Dolbeare '23, Secretary of the Brown Club of Virginia, James D. Church '46, Allan S. Hadfield '39, Prof. Carl W. Hagquist '34, Walter G. Meuschke '48. There was much good talk and interest in what is happening on College Hill today, but most frequent questions related to members of the Faculty. ◀

Weekly in Los Angeles

▶ Weekly luncheons, which have proved so popular the last two years, have been resumed in Los Angeles by the Brown University Club. The Executive Committee has again selected the Continental Room of the Alexandria Hotel for its meeting place (5th & Springs Sts.) every Thursday at noon, starting with Sept. 29. The Club receives copies of the Brown Daily Herald air-mailed during the football season. The luncheons have been an important factor in building a strong nucleus of the Club, and all Brunonians in Southern California, within striking distance, are urged to attend. Plans were in the works for a big fall meeting when Secretary R. D. Messenger wrote in September.

The Club is particularly proud of honors bestowed on two members: Dr. Reginald Poland '14, Director of the San Diego Fine Arts Gallery, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts at the Brown Commencement in June. Stephen H. Doley '42 is the new Regional Director in the Associated Alumni. "Such things tend to shorten the distance to Providence." ◀

Boston's First Luncheon

▶ COACH RIP ENGLE and Ernest Savignano of the Athletic Office opened the year for the Boston Brown Club by paying a luncheon visit Oct. 11. Each month the Bostonians will gather at Thompson's Spa on the second Tuesday.

Because of the Armistice Day holiday, the Club has decided to forgo its annual smoker on the night before the Harvard game. Plans are under way, however, Secretary Loring P. Litchfield writes the Alumni Office, to provide a program rich in variety and interest for the balance of the year. Included is a Brown Night at the Boston Pops, while the Annual Dinner of New England alumni is scheduled, although perhaps in May instead of April as has been past custom. George Channing is President for the year. ◀

Chicago's Annual Send-Off

▶ ENTERING FRESHMEN, their fathers, and alumni gathered Sept. 6 at Chicago's University Club for the annual send-off luncheon of the Brown Club. Fifty-eight Brown enthusiasts new and old (oldest—Chester A. Cook '91) heard Homer R. Faulkner '23 and Ralph M. Brown '25 outline the problems Freshmen generally face when entering college away from home. Some of the customary failings of Freshmen through the years were described, with ample personal experiences to support the ideas advanced.

In more serious vein, Ralph Brown and President Bill Garvy '38 urged the selected secondary school graduates to take full advantage of their opportunities in Providence, and to consider the Chicago Brown club their supporter and sponsor. Vice-President Bill Roberts '42 introduced the class of '53 by name and secondary school, and announced scholarship winners.

Freshmen who attended were: Robert Alexander, Fond du Lac, Wis.; John Angle and George Bender, Chicago; Richard Brand, Stuart Feuer, and Robert Sharpe,

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Glencoe; George Bray, Winnetka; Gordon Brown, Walter Cowan, Don Engelhard, and James Guinane, Oak Park; Robert Eisman, Shorewood, Wis.; and Ralph Rosenbaum, Jr., Milwaukee.

Others present, including seven undergraduates, were: Warren Smith '32, Ronald Kimball '18, F. A. Brown '26, Norman Pierce '33, Harper Brown '45, Ed Read '35, Miles Cunat '52, Fritz Bassett '35, Bob Engelhard '49, Edward Applequist '52, Bill Roberts '42, Bill Garvy '38, Melvin Schwartz '37, Ed Lawson '43, Seth Sims '46, Ralph Johnson '05, Bob Mareneck '46, Ed Swanson '50, Gene White '50, H. E. Deady '22, Steve Crilley '29, Miles Berger '52, Homer Faulkner '23, Jack Monk '24, Will Presba '32, Bill Fay '38, Eugene Pekow '52, Ralph Brown '25, and Mr. Cook.

When Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow '24 was in Chicago for the inauguration of Northwestern's new President, Brunonians greeted him at a reception at the Kimballs. Another guest of honor was Provost James P. Adams of the University of Michigan, former Vice-President of Brown. "It was a gala affair, with the house packed with Brunonians, with a few scattered Northwesterners who didn't have a chance. Hospitality was par for the Kimball course."

Another autumn feature was the trek to Cleveland for the Brown affairs, including the Western Reserve football game. The Chicago group expected a good representation.

Event of the summer was the annual Brown Club Golf Outing and Dinner at the Rolling Green Country Club Aug. 18. It was a wonderful day for golf, Chairman Ed Lawson reports. As usual after the dinner the standbys all remained for bridge and other sport, while the songs of Old Brunonia resounded through the club house. Even with the gas shortage, more than 30 made the outing:

James R. Bremner, Jr., '34, F. Donald Bateman '25, Vincent L. Benton '38, F. Abbott Brown '26, Ralph M. Brown '25, Chester A. Cook '91, Everett R. Cook '19, William G. Corbus '43, Charles W. Corcoran '41, Stephen G. Crully, Jr., '29, Jackson B. Derflinger '40, Homer R. Faulkner '23, William E. Fay, Jr., '38, William J. Garvy, Jr., '38, William M. Kaiser, Jr., '43, Otto Kerner, Jr., '30, Ronald M. Kimball '18, Edward W. Lawson '44, Emile A. LeGros '41, Robert H. Mareneck '46, John J. Monk '24, Edwin L. Read '35, Frank S. Read '35, George Rich III '44, William J. Roberts '42, Samuel J. Sherer II '40, Antone G. Singens '38, Warren J. Smith, Jr., '32, Seth Sims, Jr., '46, and Mynderse H. Taylor '42.

"Bill Fay won the low gross honors, and Vince Benton won the blind bogey. Again, Chester Cooke was the senior alumnus present (and had the most fun of anyone of those gathered). Kenneth Parker '18 donated five Parker 51 fountain pens for prizes, while other awards were made possible by Tony Bateman."

Save Dec. 29 for the annual Christmas meeting when the boys are home.

Note the Secretary's new address on the back cover of this issue.

R. HARPER BROWN

Scarsdale-White Plains

► PRINCIPAL FALL activity of the new Brown Club of Scarsdale and White Plains, N. Y., will be a pre-Columbia game gathering on Nov. 18. We had no final word on this as we went to press, however.

Long Island Alumni

► ATTENTION of all Long Island alumni, particularly those resident in Queens, Nassau and Suffolk Counties, is called to the birth of the Brown University Club of Long Island. It is a lusty infant, according to reports of the first meeting Oct. 10 at which 46 were present to welcome Alumni Executive Officer William B. McCormick and Assistant Athletic Director Ernest Savignano. (Sixteen other alumni also gave assurance of future support.)

One problem encountered in the formation of the Club arises from the fact that many Long Island commuters have given the Alumni Office their business address in New York City for University mail. That automatically includes them, for most routine purposes, in the geographical stencil file for Manhattan. If, for example, the Alumni Monthly is sent to the New York address, it is difficult mechanically to provide the Long Island Club with a complete list of available residents for their Club use.

The morning after the first meeting of the Club Daniel Earle, Secretary-Treasurer pro tem., phoned us with the request to give publicity to this message: "If you live on Long Island and are not receiving notices about the new Brown Club, please notify Daniel Earle at 77 South Ocean Ave., Patchogue, L. I. He will provide full information about future activity."

The Club named a Board of Governors at its October meeting at the Garden City Casino. The Board is instructed to select officers. This is a larger Club than the neighborhood group in the Manhasset Bay area, already active.

Georgia Alumni to Meet

► Henderson E. Van Surdam of Brown's Housing and Development Campaign staff is also known as a gridiron official and football enthusiast in general. As Secretary-Treasurer of the Touchdown Club of New York, he goes to Georgia Tech this month to present a plaque on behalf of the Club in memory of a past President, Dean Hill, one-time Tech football captain.

While in Georgia, Van Surdam will speak at a meeting of Brown alumni in Atlanta on Oct. 31. Eugene W. O'Brien '19 of the Brown Corporation is making the arrangements.

In Baltimore

► The annual meeting of the Baltimore Brown Club was scheduled for Oct. 12.

Brownbrokers' Reunion

► BROWNBROKER alumni will hold their annual reunion in New York Nov. 19, the date of the Columbia football game. New skits and old favorites revived will provide the customary revue to be a part of the get-together program that evening at the Brown Club, 39 East 39th St.

LARGEST FRESHMAN GROUP ever to attend the outing at Camp Yawgoog is shown above. The BCA handled the details in a fine program, one of the Freshman Week features for 1953.

San Francisco Lunches

► The Brown Club of Alta California inaugurated their monthly luncheon schedule on October 10th, 1949, at St. Julien Restaurant, 140 Battery Street, San Francisco. Alumni attending included: Nathaniel Blaisdell '83, Philip F. Brown '19, John B. Crosman '40, David G. Goddard '24, Joseph Goldman '38, Myles L. Grover '38, Vincent B. Hackett '18, William F. Kroll '35, Dudley A. Zinke '39, Robert E. Soellner '24, and Fremont Roper '11.

Bob Soellner, '24, was Chairman for the Day, and planned the program, which was enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

This Alumni Club now plans to hold regular monthly luncheons, on the second Monday in each month, at the above address. And all Brown men who find themselves in San Francisco on these dates are cordially invited to attend.

Steaks in Manhasset

► THE BACK COVER of this issue gives official listing for the first time to the new Manhasset Bay Brown Club, embracing that Long Island area and headed by President Gavin A. Pitt '38 and Secretary-Treasurer Robert Uhl '30. A steak roast Sept. 17 followed several preliminary meetings last year, attracting 14 to Fred Baurenfeind's house.

Future plans, in addition to those for meetings, include attendance at the Columbia football game by members and their wives. Afterward the group will have dinner, probably at the New York Brown Club. LeRoy Clayfield '24 is handling arrangements.

At the steak roast were: A. L. Brisk '29, Fred Baurenfeind '22, Clayfield, Edwin J. Deadrick '48, John E. Gagnon '29, John F. Isaac '18, Philip E. Langworthy '06, William H. Lyon '29, John J. McGeeney '27, Harold J. Morse '27, Richard C. McDowell '48, M. Douglas Neier '26, J. Herbert Pearson '29, and Pitt.

Philadelphia Renewal

► Philadelphia luncheons were resumed by the Brown Club Oct. 11, with the expectation that these events would be held regularly on the second Tuesday of the month at the Alpha Club, 1911 Chestnut St. Secretary Myers also reports that the Philadelphia alumni were organized for the annual trek to Princeton on Oct. 15, with Baltimore and Washington men joining them.

Handy to Princeton

► The Plainfield Area Section of the Associated Alumni planned its annual Brown night on the eve of the Princeton game this fall, with dinner arrangements at the Park Hotel in Plainfield and invitations to Athletic Director Mackesey, Coach Engle, and the Brown football squad.

We hope to have a word on this for our next issue.

First on Cape Cod

► ORGANIZATION of a Brown University Club on Cape Cod was forecast as the result of a well-attended meeting of alumni in Hyannis Aug. 15. Year-round Cape Codders were joined by "summer folk," including President Wriston. We know of no previous alumni gathering on the Cape, despite the number of Brunonians there resident.

Representing Brown

► IN ADDITION to men from College Hill, the following have represented Brown University at various ceremonies of academic note recently:

James Russell McKay '11 at the inauguration of Will W. Orr as the tenth President of the College of New Wilmington, Pa., Oct. 14.

The 1949 Reunion Rollcall ◀ ◀

The reunion pattern is familiar at Brown—it is the variations that count in each case. Herewith we present the reports on the 1949 reunions of Brown men, as reported by the faithful corps of Class Secretaries. Time and space did not permit this coverage in our summer issue. In the pages normally occupied by "Brunonians Far and Near," the notes of the Classes, we call the roll on an outstandingly successful reunion year.

Worthington AAC President

Its members are benefited by the interchange of ideas and experience on alumni and educational problems, by the study of practices and policies of organized alumni work, and by the appraisal of alumni achievement. AAC membership includes 1250 individuals in 489 institutions. Its 377 alumni magazines reach 1,725,000 readers. Nearly 200 alumni funds reporting in the last annual survey reported total gifts of $11,000,000 from 400,000 contributors.

Among his duties will be participation in a number of regional conferences for members in different parts of the country, dates for which have been set as follows: Nov. 30-Dec. 2 Highland Park, Ill. Dec. 4-7 Omaha, Neb. Dec. 15-16 Denver, Colo. Jan. 4-7 New Orleans. Jan. 8-10 Columbia, S. C. Jan. 12-14 Greenfield, Mass. Jan. 19-21 Asbury Park, N. J. April 10-11 Carmel, Calif. offices at other institutions. But we raised an eyebrow when we read that a certain new alumni house has "a concealed busser system in the executive suite." Reminds us that the otherwise excellent 1949 Liber identified Jim Carroll libelously and inaccurately as "vile commodore of the Brown Yacht Club."

► Lew Shaw, able athletic publicist, calls attention to the fine work of the Post Office which delivered a letter to Coach Engle recently, although it was addressed merely: "Mr. Charles A. Rip."

► A Princeton landmark which has served every living Princetonian is the bell in the cupola of Nassau Hall, cast in 1857 and hung in 1858. Bellmaster Bigelow told the Princeton Alumni Weekly he believes "there is no other bell in the world which has, in its lifetime, rung as many times, as many individual strokes." Besides signals for the start of each class, exam, and other events, the Princeton bell's striker has marked the hour 24 times each day. It is this last which keeps us from issuing a categorical challenge to Princeton on behalf of our own famous Brown chapel bell on University Hall which has done everything mentioned except strike the hour since 1791. Is there a tabulator in the house?

► If you don't read bulletin boards, you miss a lot of fun. For instance, we liked the call for candidates for athletic team managers at Brown: "Be a campus personage. Build up your health. Short hours, rapid advancement. See all the games free without carrying the drum. Be a manager. Minimum wage $.00 to start."

► Dr. Flemming of Ohio Wesleyan was reminded by a number of speakers at his installation that he was the ninth President of the institution. "Yes," he said, "I'm the ninth. And there'll be a tenth."

► This all happened some years ago, making any report on it a bit tardy. Anyhow, a good Brown man who had had some trouble in College returned for a reunion. At one point in the weekend he sought out Dean Randall, whom he had seen quite often as an undergraduate, officially and by request.

"Dean," the alumnus said, "I take a lot of satisfaction in talking with you. You don't remember me, but years ago when I was still a student at Brown you told me I would never amount to anything. You were quite positive about it, as I recall. Well, sir, I'd like to have you know that you were absolutely right."

► The nationally-noted "moat" had already figured in several campus gags before College was in session for a week. One of the football officials at the first game, who paced off liberal penalty yardage against Brown, was saluted with a cheering-section chant: "Throw him in the moat... throw him in the moat." The night before, too, at the student rally there was a burlesque of several of the administrative officers, regaled in cap and gown. One of them was haranguing the large crowd when the other three stalked off the Faunce House terrace with shovels over their shoulders. "Hey," shouted the speaker, "where are you going?" The others kept walking but turned their heads to yell, "We're off to dig the moat."

► We read "Freedom and Fear", the Harvard Phi Beta Kappa Oration by Prof. Zechariah Chafee, Jr., '07 this summer, knowing it would be a stimulating statement. Pointing out that Communists form one 20th of one per cent in this country, he remarks that the odds are 1,999 to 1 in favor of free institutions; if the Harvard Stadium were filled with 40,000, the chances are that only 20 of them would be Communists.

"What," he asks, "can we do to prevent them from harming the other 99.95% of us, who have on our side only the city and state police, almost every newspaper and school teacher and professor and preacher, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Army, the Air Force, and the Navy, never forgetting the Marines? Shades of Valley Forge and Iwo Jima! If we no longer want to be the land of the free, at least let us be the home of the brave."
